Dear Mr. Awan:

Thank you for your correspondence regarding comments I made about the Canadian Islamic Congress complaint against Maclean's magazine and one of its journalists.

I confess to being unmoved by your criticism of my characterisation of the complaint as "a pretty bold attack on the basic Canadian value of freedom of the press and freedom of expression."

In fact, the Canadian Press article that raised your ire failed to cite the entirety of my remarks. For instance, I told the reporter that "I find that this attack on freedom of expression by Mr. Elmasry [Mohamed Elmasry, Chairman and President of the Canadian Islamic Congress] ironic given his own track record, which is not exactly one of tolerance and respect for others."

I would like to draw your attention to an exchange from the Michael Coren Show from October 2004. It featured an interview of Mohamed Elmasry, Canadian Islamic Congress Chairman and President. During the interview, Mr Coren asked Mr Elmasry: "So everyone in Israel, so anyone and everyone, irrespective of gender, over the age of 18, in Israel is a valid target?" Elmasry answered with an unequivocal, "Yes."

Remarks such as these are deeply troubling. It requires what can only be described aschutzpah for you to be associated with Mr Elmasry while accusing others of promoting hatred towards another group. Whatever credibility you may have as a proponent of anti-racism is compromised by your continued association with someone who would hold such odious views.

Lastly, I would appreciate your clarification of one aspect of your letter. At the end of the
